

ENHANCED ALEXA VOICE CONTROL Firmware Update

Enhanced voice control, through improved Alexa integration, means more natural Alexa commands and easier access to streaming services. On MusicCast devices made in 2018 and later, it's even easier to ask Alexa to play the music you want, where you want it.

Just Say It

Fewer words, more control. Enhanced voice control allows you to ask Alexa for specific songs, artists and genres. For example: "Alexa, play jazz from Amazon Music in the kitchen." Need to pause the music to take a call? Just say, "Alexa, pause." The connected Echo or Dot in your house allows you to talk to your MusicCast devices* made in 2018 and later the same way you talk to the Amazon device. If you're new to Alexa, you'll learn quickly because you can speak naturally, like you would talk to a person. You'll be enjoying music throughout your home on your favorite speakers and systems, hands-free, in no time.

Streaming Services

Alexa can play music from streaming services linked to your Amazon Alexa account, including Amazon Music, Pandora, Deezer, Gimme Radio, TuneIn and iHeartRadio. Ask Alexa to play a specific artist like this, "Alexa, play John Legend on Amazon Music in the living room." Explore over 2 million songs available through Amazon Music.

*Available Fall 2019 for the latest MusicCast lineup. A full list of compatible models is available at https://usa.yamaha.com/products/contents/audio_visual/musiccast/update_models.html

Amazon, Alexa, Amazon Music, Prime Music, Amazon Music Unlimited and all related logos are trademarks of Amazon.com, Inc. or its affiliates.

